Executive summary

Markets remain positive for the first half of 2024

Positive momentum continued into the second quarter of 2024, with global equity markets posting gains. Bond markets had a rocky start as strong April economic data in the U.S. pushed back the timing of potential interest rate cuts. However, softer inflation data in recent weeks helped the domestic fixed income market end the quarter with small gains.

In the U.S., stocks continued to rally during the second quarter. Technology was again a leading sector, with performance primarily driven by enthusiasm around artificial intelligence. Large-cap stocks had strong performance during the quarter, outpacing small-cap stocks and interest-rate-sensitive real estate investment trusts, or REITs. U.S. equities continued to outperform developed ex-U.S. equities, where European stocks were weighed down by uncertainty around the election in France. Emerging markets, whose performance was hampered by concerns over China's first-quarter growth, outperformed developed markets in the second quarter after Chinese authorities stepped in with support.

Within fixed income, global developed markets fell marginally in the second quarter as yields, especially those in the eurozone, rose. Emerging markets debt, buoyed by higher real yields, produced a positive return. Likewise, in the U.S. and Europe, lower-quality credit outperformed as spreads narrowed and the default rate remained flat.

Despite market volatility, Vanguard, through its investor-owned* structure, has strived to consistently add value over its 40-plus-year history of managing index portfolios by proactively reducing costs and applying conservative securities lending and collateral reinvestment practices. Vanguard's investment principles are rooted in setting clear goals, maintaining balance, minimizing cost, and staying disciplined with a long-term perspective.

* The break-even inflation rate represents a measure of expected inflation derived from the difference between the nominal yield on the 10-year Treasury—which includes inflation expectations—and the yield of the 10-year Treasury Inflation-Protected Security (TIPS)—which does not include inflation expectations. This delta implies what the market believes will be the average rate of inflation over the next 10 years.

Vanguard securities lending by fund

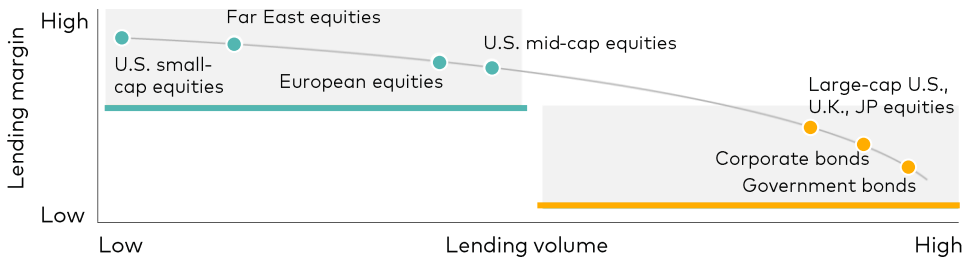

Vanguard securities-lending program overview

Lending securities from equity index funds provides an opportunity to increase portfolio returns. There are two broad strategic approaches to securities lending: value and volume. Vanguard is a value lender, meaning we seek to optimize client outcomes by maximizing revenue generation while minimizing the percentage of the portfolio on loan to manage risk. Additionally, Vanguard's at-cost lending program returns more than 95% of securities-lending revenues directly back to the funds, a competitive and shareholder-friendly return rate.

Vanguard's lending program focuses on lending "specials"—securities with a high lending margin—to maximize the return generated by each loan.

Asset-weighted cost (2023)	3.1%
Revenue returned to funds (2023)	96.9%
Range of acceptable loans by regulations	Up to 33% of gross assets
- Best practice range by Vanguard	0% to 7% of gross assets
Weighted-average percentage of portfolios on loan	0.33% of gross assets

Vanguard Fixed Income Group's credit research team manages a list of approved borrowers and assigns each a credit limit. Vanguard considers the financial viability of all approved counterparties on an ongoing basis and monitors individual counterparty exposure daily. If necessary, the amounts on loan are adjusted based on changes in perceived creditworthiness of each borrowing institution. Collateral is reinvested in a conservative, internally managed, money market fund called the Market Liquidity Fund.

Securities lending from fixed income funds

Vanguard lends securities only from its equity funds. We lent securities from our fixed income funds until 2009, when market conditions made the risk-reward unattractive. We continually monitor market conditions and other factors, periodically reevaluating our securities-lending program's effectiveness in meeting its goal of giving our clients the best chance for investment success.

Numbers may not total 100% due to rounding.

Benchmark methodologies overview

Performance differences between indexes are caused by differences in construction methodology. Among the most impactful elements are exposures to market capitalization segments and regional markets, which are depicted by the charts below and on the following page.

For more information about Vanguard funds, visit institutional.vanguard.com or call 800-523-1036 to obtain a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information about a fund are contained in the prospectus; read and consider it carefully before investing.

Vanguard ETFs® are not redeemable with the issuing fund other than in very large aggregations worth millions of dollars. Instead, investors must buy or sell Vanguard ETFs in the secondary market and hold those in a brokerage account. In doing so, the investor may incur brokerage commissions and may pay more than net asset value when buying and receive less than net asset value when selling.

All investments are subject to risk, including the possible loss of the money you invest. Bond funds are subject to the risk that an issuer will fail to make payments on time, and that bond prices will decline because of rising interest rates or negative perceptions of an issuer's ability to make payments. High-yield bonds generally have medium- and lower-range credit quality ratings and are therefore subject to a higher level of credit risk than bonds with higher credit quality ratings. Foreign investing involves additional risks, including currency fluctuations and political uncertainty. Stocks and bonds of companies in emerging markets are generally more risky than those of companies in developed countries. Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against a loss. While U.S. Treasury or government agency securities provide substantial protection against credit risk, they do not protect investors against price changes due to changing interest rates. Unlike stocks and bonds, U.S. Treasury bills are guaranteed as to the timely payment of principal and interest.

The Vanguard collective trusts are not mutual funds. They are collective trusts available only to tax-qualified plans and their eligible participants. The collective trust mandates are managed by Vanguard Fiduciary Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Vanguard Group, Inc. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information should be considered carefully before investing.
