Plain talk about risk

The trust is subject to several stock and bond market risks, any of which could cause an investor to lose money. However, based on the trust’s current allocation between stocks and the less volatile asset class of bonds, the trust’s overall level of risk should be higher than those funds that invest mostly in bonds, but lower than those investing mostly in stocks. In addition to the risks inherent in the asset classes of the underlying funds, the trust also is subject to asset allocation risk, which is the chance that the selection of underlying funds and the allocation of fund assets will cause the fund to underperform other funds with a similar investment objective.
